Practice Group Spotlight - International Trade

Our attorneys are experts in international trade and customs law. With a global network, we are well placed to advise clients on the full range of international trade and customs issues they may face in business operations. Our attorneys advise on trade regulatory issues and remedies and have represented major companies and associations on all aspects of international trade and investments, including CFIUS investment reviews, China 301 tariffs, section 201 safeguards, trade agreement negotiations, export credit finance, customs, and regulatory compliance. We represent clients in relation to trade defense issues including anti-dumping, countervailing duties, safeguard measures and foreign government investigations. We assist companies in designing export and investment strategies which are compliant with international trade law, including the design and structuring of export plans and use of foreign trade mechanisms to facilitate imports and exports. We advise U.S. and foreign clients on the applicability of U.S. Treasury Office of Foreign Asset Control sanctions involving Iran, Russia and Cuba. Our attorneys also advise clients on anti-corruption compliance under legislation including the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA) and UK anti-bribery law.
